About Us / Rules / BLDG 61 Makerspace Policy

BLDG 61 Makerspace Policy

Boulder Public Library (BPL) provides open access to information and encourages the free and respectful expression of all points of view. The BLDG 61 Makerspace extends those commitments into the world of making by providing open access to a wide variety of equipment and tools during open studio hours, and by offering classes and programs fo[illegible]

BPL's Rules of Conduct and Internet Access policy apply to the BLDG 61 Makerspace. A signed BLDG 61 Makerspace Acknowledgment of Risk and Release form is required of all users and visitors to the Makerspace. Exception is given to individuals or groups on staff-lead tours of the space. Users must also complete the required Equipment Use and Safety Class prior to independent use of the space.

Equipment and tools in the BLDG 61 Makerspace are available at no charge to all community members with a valid library card, generally on a first come, first served basis during open studio hours. Specific tools or equipment may be reserved for projects at the discretion of staff. Independent use of tools and equipment during classes or programs is prohibited without prior authorization by staff.

Use of the BLDG 61 Makerspace equipment and tools is free during open stu[illegible]urs. Users are welcome to bring in staff-approved consumable materials for use with the equipment and tools, except the 3D printers. BPL supplies 3D printer filament for a fee to users. Other consumable materials may be available for purchase such as sheets of wood, skeins of wool, etc. Fees for consumable materials are charged to cover BPL's cost. During library programs, BPL may provide consumable materials free of charge, as available. Please consult with staff about the availability of consumable material before planning a project.

Users (or if minors, their parents/guardians) are responsible for any fees incurred for loss or damage to BPL property, not associated with normal wear and tear, that is the result of

REACH STUDIO

Reach is a free, open and supportive arts studio space where Denver's artists who may have experienced homelessness or hardships can come to express themselves creatively, be exposed to new art forms, collaborate with peers, learn new skills and challenge each other to take the next step- in their art and in their lives.

GOALS:

- Provide Open Studio for Homeless or Not Exactly Homeless artists
- Create a safe, open and collaborative community
